ROSA MYSTICA . . .

We, the Senior Class, dedicate the 1961 LORE to our Blessed Mother under the title of the Mystical Rose.

In our freshman year we chose the rose as our class flower. As seniors we have come to realize that God's beauty and the beauty of womanhood are embodied in the Mystical Rose.

During our four years at Mercy we have often turned to Mary for example and encouragement. We have found in her guidance the sweet and gentle qualities of motherly love.

But if ever we have needed a guide through the maze of conflicting thoughts, it is now when we exchange the role of a little girl for that of a young woman. We know, however, that she is walking beside us to aid us if we falter and to congratulate us in our successes. Our patroness, the Mystical Rose, will remain forever with the Class of 1961.

By Them Shall We Know

Dear Graduates,

September saw you, the Class of '61, clothed in new dignity functioning in official capacity as heads of various school organizations, editing the publications, effectively discharging duties at the various monitorial posts. October found you active in drama and debate, and giving more serious attention to career clubs and the like. It caught you once, too, somber in cap and gown the evening of the traditional Ring Blessing Ceremony. November showed you YOU in a somewhat different light. In the silence of a closed retreat, there was time for you to think, to judge, to weigh your yesterdays that your tomorrows might be rightly planned.

And so, the year passed on from month to month with new things ventured, new things tried, and new things learned. Under the loving guidance of Our Lady of Mercy your girlhood traits gave place to the character of womanhood. What you have received is now yours to give. Give unstintingly. In the measure of your giving lie your own success and happiness.

God love you,

Sister Mary Frederic, R.S.M.

the Path of Salvation

.....To teach and to pardon, console and bless always. It is yours, O Priest of Jesus Christ!

Our chaplain, Father Robert Burroughs, is responsible for the spiritual guidance of a family numbering close to nine hundred girls. In this vocation, Father finds ample opportunity to exercise his priestly duties.

For sixteen years Father Burroughs has welcomed freshmen to OLM, presented sophomores with a true value of charity, and brought to juniors the realization that all work and no prayer will not merit eternal salvation. But those who have come to value his work most are his seniors.

Father has drawn us closer to Christ through the sacraments; he has drawn us to our Blessed Mother through meditations on the Rosary; and he has drawn us to himself through his Christ-like kindness and humor.

KNOWLEDGE COMES, BUT WISDOM LINGERS

"Knowledge of the whole truth is the primary aim of education, but we cannot know the whole truth unless we also know revealed truths."

Education is lacking if it relies on human understanding alone. Complete education must include knowledge gained from both divine and human authority. Therefore, Mercians revere their school motto: "Virtus et Scientia," because it embodies this Christian concept.

Fundamental principles of virtuous living are inculcated through daily religious instruction and this Christian spirit permeates all phases of study. The experience and culture of other generations, intricacies of math, scientific experimentation, and the art of expression provide a liberal education, while the practical arts of home living and business world equip a student in fruitful vocational training.

Education which unites virtue to knowledge is true education, for according to His Holiness Pope Pius XI such an education exists "... to elevate, regulate, and perfect (human life), in accordance with the example and teaching of Christ."

To Know God Is

In October, Fr. Charles O'Neill addressed all students concerning the importance of vocations.

Religious instruction is the hallmark of Catholic education, thus students view their daily religion classes as the most important. Through the pages of the Bible, freshmen observe God's love and noble design for man, while sophomores see a more perfect fulfillment of that love through a study of the Mass and sacraments. Juniors meet St. Thomas' analysis of the virtues and Seniors seek practical answers to the challenge of young Catholic adulthood.

Joyce Ford, Diane DeLorenzo, and Gail Lofstom inspect the religious articles which Fr. Burroughs has on display for his classes.

to Love God

As head of the religion department, Fr. Burroughs meets with Sister Mary Margretta and Mrs. Eleanor Kelley to establish an outline of study for all grades.

Putting into action what they have learned from the religion instructors, Carol Moran and Cheryl Meisel add the finishing touches to an Advent wreath.

"Reading Maketh the Full Man . . .

A thorough study of grammar, literature, creative writing, and vocabulary comprises an English course which prepares Mercians for success in any literary endeavor.

Journalism offers interested students an opportunity to master newspaper principles and techniques as they aid in the publication of OLM News Print.

As Antonio (Carol Willemin) looks on intently, Shylock (Tamara Tkaczuk) threatens Bassanio (Jane Stimpson) by demanding a pound of flesh for failure to repay a loan.

Upon invitation of Sister Mary Christopher, Lois McKinnon informs seniors of life and study at Loyola University.

Having completed evaluation of term papers, Sister Mary Christopher explains her comments to Sylvia Murphy.

Writing an Exact Man"

Scholastic Writing entries are discussed by English teachers, Sister Mary Maura, Miss Prion, and Mrs. Brady, in an effort to select the most original compositions for the Detroit News contest.

Connie Dakshaw consults Roger's Thesaurus for a synonym with the correct character count for Judy Konrek and Joanne Giroux's headline.

The World of Speech Has Many Voices

Through many hours of study in the classroom and practice after school, aspiring dramatists attain the poise required to appear before an audience to present a play, speech, or reading.

All students have gained a certain amount of this skill with the introduction of a speech course into the curriculum. Endeavoring to put speakers at ease, Mrs. Veronica Francis assures each that "speech is only enlarged conversation."

Speech students find in Mrs. Veronica Francis a perfect example of an instructor who practices what she teaches.

Not for home economics, but for a unique demonstration speech, Anne McAuliffe deftly prepares a teenager's favorite snack, pizza.

Sister Mary Laurentina's second year thespians prepare for the casting of the senior play, "Song of Bernadette," by reading through the script.

Mercians Manifest Linguistic Skills

Although a supposedly "dead" language, classical students prove Latin to be very much alive. Having mastered declensions and conjugations, pupils translate passages from Caesar and Cicero to cultivate logical thinking.

French scholars put emphasis on learning grammar, pronunciation, and vocabulary as the basis for future study of this language.

While celebrating Cicero's 2067th birthday, Mrs. McGraw and the advanced Latin class enjoy a "Roman feast."

The complexities of the Gallic Wars are straightened out for Janet Lingle by Sister Mary Karl.

Sister Mary Georgetta, French I and II instructor, and Diane Lepage admire Judy Burkhardt's scroll of French Christmas scenes.

Mrs. Abel's Latin class responds enthusiastically to questions on their homework assignment.

Through Study of the Past

Acquaintance with a problem is the first step towards solving it. From the ancient cultures of Greece and Rome, through the rise and fall of autocracy, through the annals of America, history students learn of man's success and failure.

Having studied the heritage of our country, government students analyze contemporary problems of society for present awareness and future action.

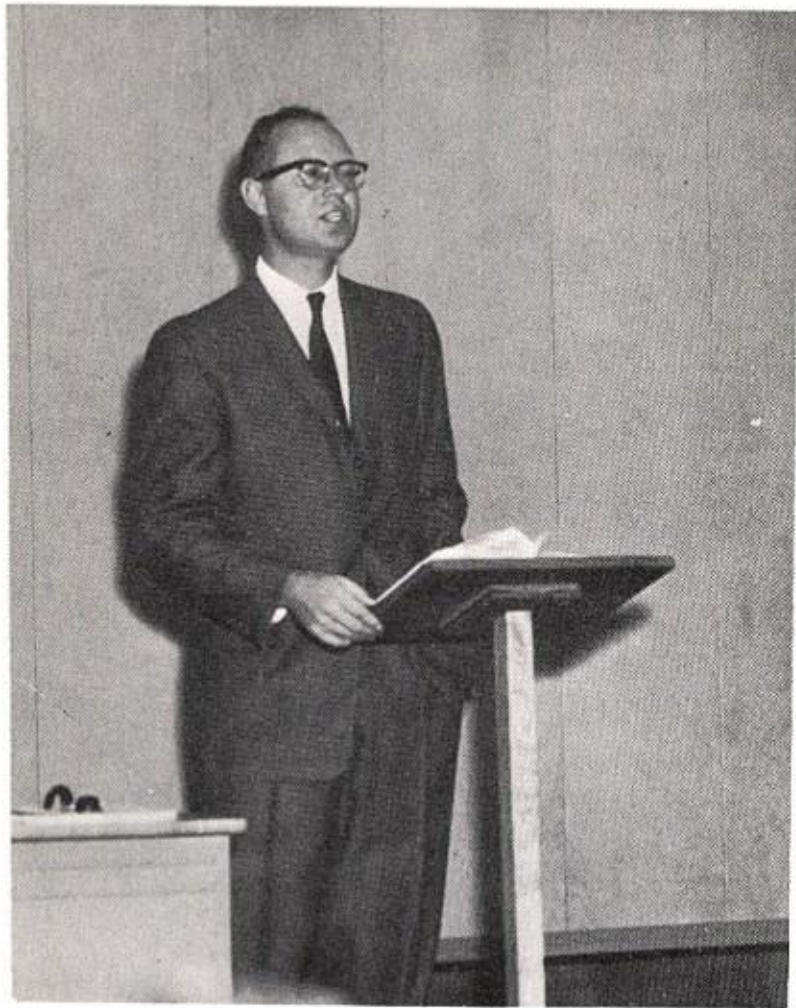

Miss Wagner shows Cheryl Bradley the history units she has compiled.

The importance of keeping posted on current events is stressed by Mrs. Frosie to Maureen Long, Judy Hay, and Gloria Newman as she shows them some popular news magazines.

We Sow Our Future

Michigan's constitutional convention is the topic of discussion as Mr. Joseph Brennan, prominent Detroit lawyer, speaks to seniors.

"Stereotyping is based on ignorance," explains Joe Namphy to Denise Geisler and Carol Hughes. Bob Zyromski, another member of the U. of D. Human Relations Club, waits to add his comment.

Dr. Daniel Wadowski, D.D.S., explains a break in the film, "Operation Abolition," by telling Sister Mary Madonna that he is showing it for the 106th time!

Science Reveals a World of Wonder

Biology projects for the Science Fair are the topic of an after-school conference between Sister Mary Boniface and Mrs. Elenore Ross.

Answering questions concerning the behavior of man, animals, plants, and inanimate objects is the task of the science department. Biology answers our queries about living organisms. Physics tells of the behavior of matter and energy, while in chemistry we learn of the composition of matter and the changes it undergoes. As our knowledge of science grows, we more fully understand ourselves and the world in which we live.

Squeamish expressions on the faces of Andrea Peterson, Mary Ellen Bosznski, and Pat Molloy mirror the feeling of most biology students toward dissecting.

Sister Mary Leocadia, instructor of physics and chemistry, aids Mary Jo Dingeman in the correct method for measuring bouyant force.

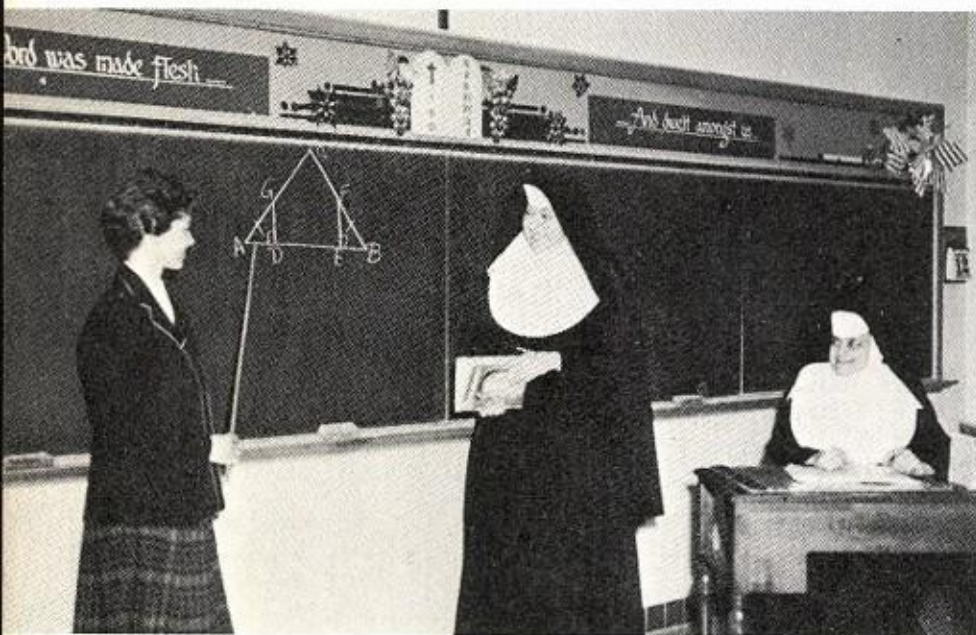

Kathy Koss, Diane Macunovich, and Carmen Galea experiment to determine the linear expansion of a metal rod.

Budding scientists, Paula McClary, Pat Lollini, Jane McDonough, Virginia Gerhard, Elaine DiMatteo, and Janet Oakes, explore the laboratory and become acquainted with the chemical world.

Explorations Disclose Intricacies of Math,

With the ever-increasing emphasis put on the study of mathematics, there is a new look in the math department. Modern concepts of algebra and geometry are explained while revised textbooks are used to assure Mercians of an up-to-date program as the basis for future study.

Sister Mary Scholastica, student teacher, and Sister Mary Alicia listen attentively as Sue Gallaher interprets her diagram for the class.

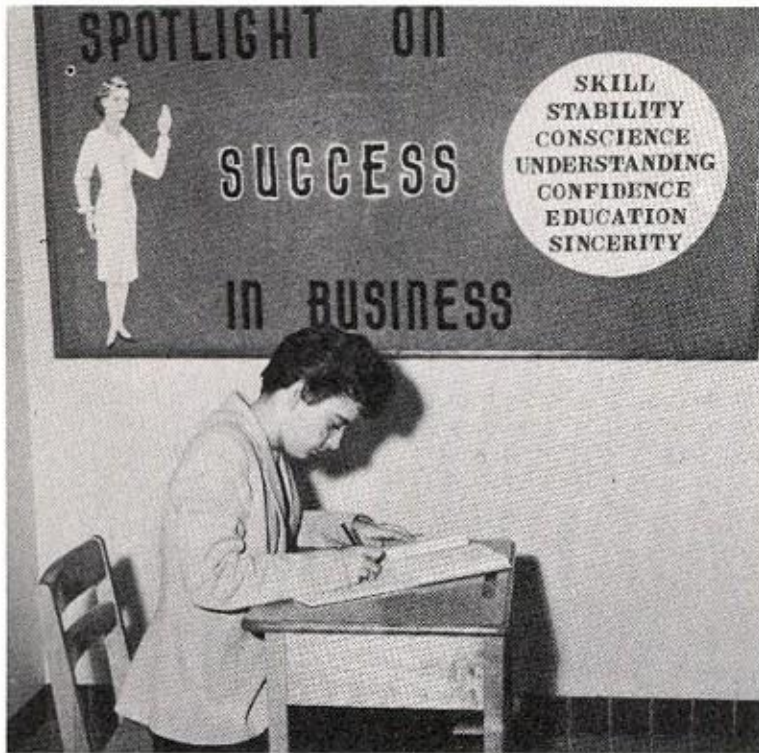

First year algebra student, Nancy Korth, performs a fundamental operation for classmates.

Sister Mary Victor, head of the Math department, introduces Janet LaMotte and Carole Frederick, fourth year math students, to concepts of modern math.

Ledger, and Keyboard

Accuracy and neatness are the key words to success in commercial subjects. Mercy offers courses in shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping to prepare students for their future careers in the business world.

Sharon Amelotte, first year shorthand student, applies business skills publicized on the bulletin board.

Mrs. DuCharme, Typing I instructor, teaches Nancy Gerger the basic skills of speed and accuracy.

Sister Mary Timothy supervises the process of operating a mimeograph machine with Student Council officers, Sue Sullivan and Lynn Gayney.

Taking advantage of the opportunity afforded bookkeeping students, Karen Tavi, Dawn Calice, and Pat Hiltz master the technique of using the billing machine.

"Join sides with five-eighths inch seam allowance" is the instruction as Home and Family Living students construct their first garments.

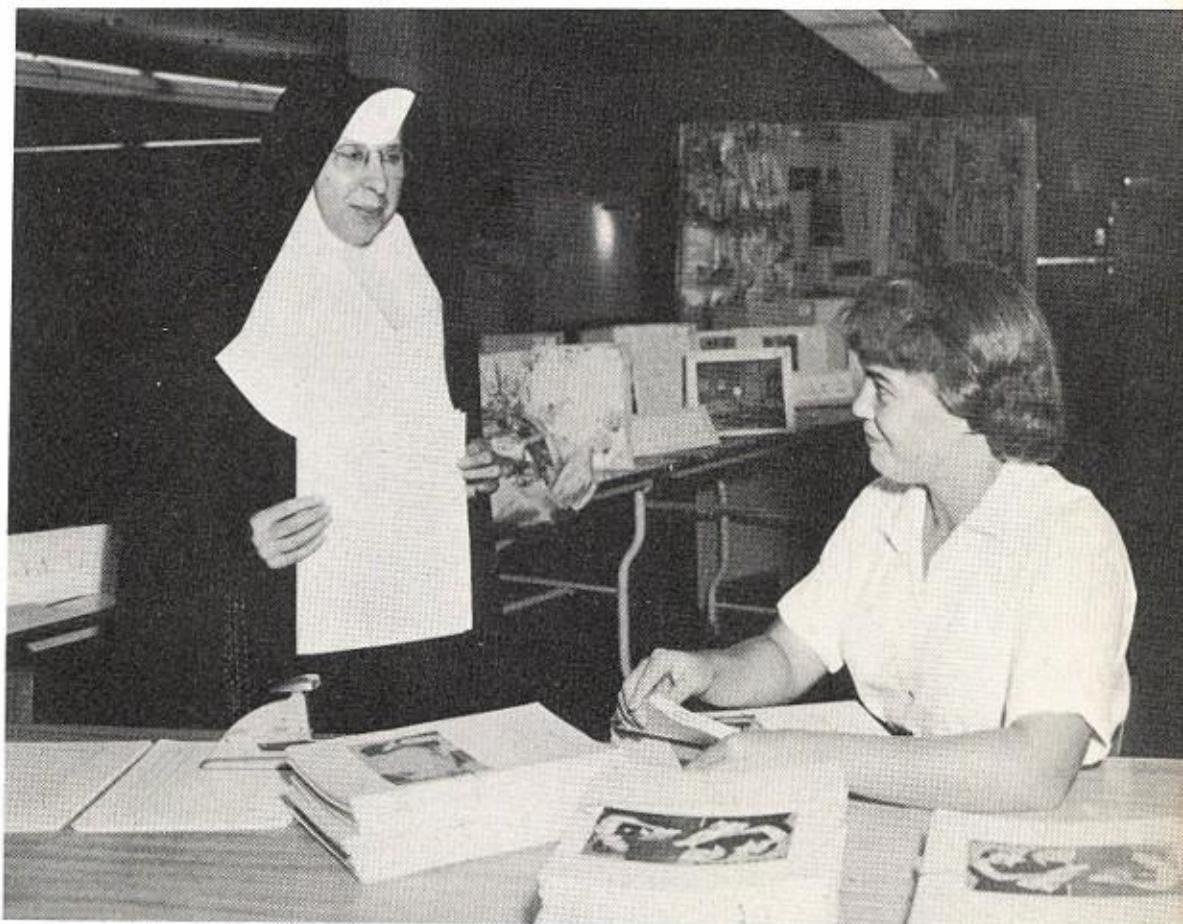

Home Ec Perfects Domestic Aptitudes

Centering around the home and family, the study of home economics prepares girls for their future in either the single or married life. Knowledge attained through this course, whether it be in furnishing a home or designing a formal, becomes invaluable as vocations are chosen.

Perfect for a winter formal . . . White brocade tops a blue satin skirt of unpressed pleats. Accented by white pearls and blue feathers, the outfit is completed by adding immaculate wristlength gloves. Margaret Michalski gives her outfit a final check before taking it home.

Delia Bradley watches as her father, an established Detroit florist, demonstrates the art of flower arrangement to the home economics class.

Written originally as the thesis for her doctorate, Sister Mary Jeanne's units form the basis for the Home and Family Living course. Sue Meagher helps Sister prepare the books for students.

Artists Portray Beauty

Talent, the key to the art department, unlocks the door to beauty. Under the creative hand of Sister Mary Ignatius, Mercians blessed with this gift from God can develop it for His honor and glory.

A four year program provides training in basic skills and fundamental techniques. Scholastic Art competition and the annual OLM art show allow for expression of artistic talent.

Sister Mary Ignatius, art instructor, fashions the tones for her icon of Our Lady of Vladimir, initially displayed at Marian Day and again shown at a national Sodality convention.

Mercy's gym annually becomes a miniature Greenwich Village as future "Rembrandts" display their efforts for interested patrons.

in Blend of Color and Skill

Kathy Dudzinski, Mary McCarthy, Peggy Klenner, and Mary Dugan consult Sister Mary Ignatius about the thirty-five entries required of each advanced art student for the spring Scholastic Art Show.

Tempera paints provide the color as Evelyn Dysarz, Judi Rink, Sue Stoffer, and Sue Kowalski design covers for the memory book of the National Catholic Theater Conference.

Physical Education Promotes Teamwork

The shrill blast of Mrs. Sumrill's whistle sounds as Mercians engage in lively games of newcomb, volley ball, basketball, and baseball. These competitive sports, as well as swimming and riding classes which may be substituted for weekly gym periods, assure students of a well-rounded and wholesome personality.

Action is fast and furious as Yvonne Thompson and Nancy Nelsen strain to tip the jump ball to respective teammates.

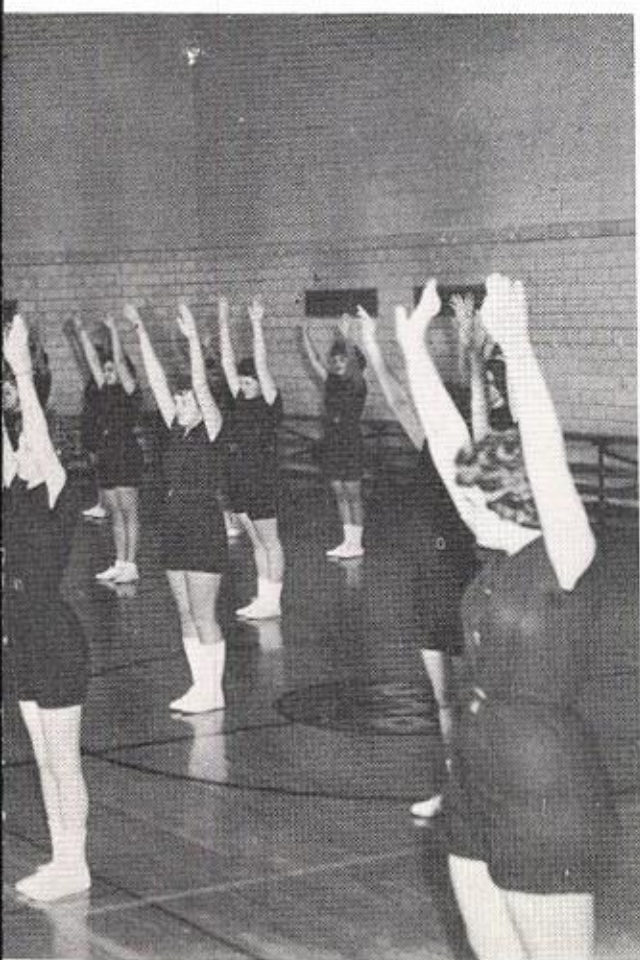

Riding Club officers, Donna Kramer, president; Doreen Selegan, secretary; Judy Kolinski, vice-president; and Karen Chopp, treasurer, pause before taking their mounts over the indoor jumps at the Wallace School of Horsemanship.

Reaching for an unattainable "goal," the ceiling, sophomores try to take off a few inches.

A motley crew runs down a Lore photographer as she attempts to portray the exit of a typical gym class.

Scholastic Atmosphere Produces Scholars

A quiet atmosphere and accessible reference material are essential to the conscientious student. Mercy's study halls and well-stocked library afford these helps to those whose search for knowledge requires additional research and study time.

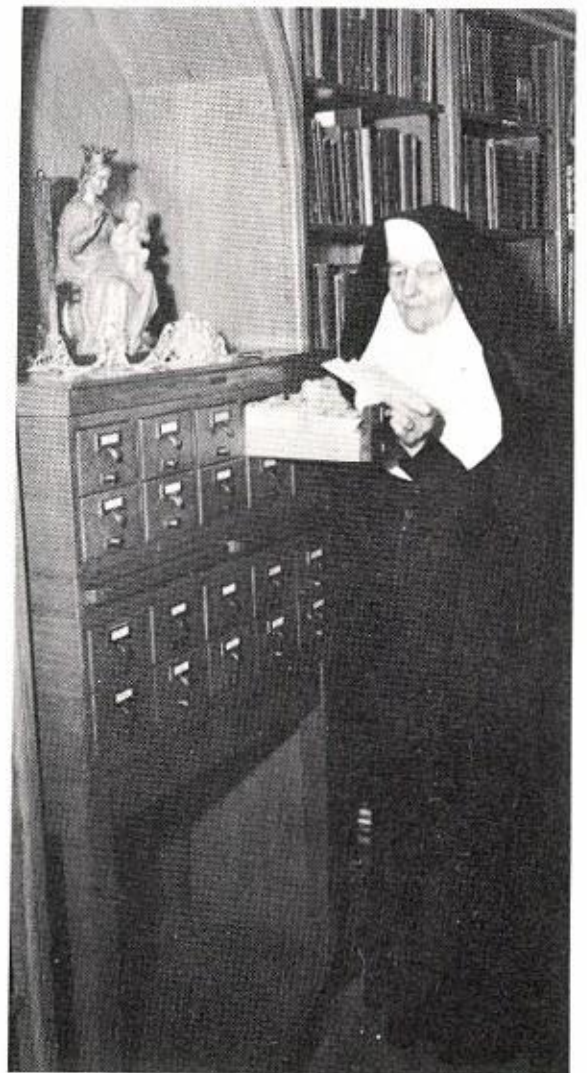

The daily chore of checking attendance records is assumed by Mrs. Starr as she supervises study halls.

Mature reading and attentive listening coupled with frequent reference to a dictionary assures Shiela DeLozier of a rich and effective vocabulary.

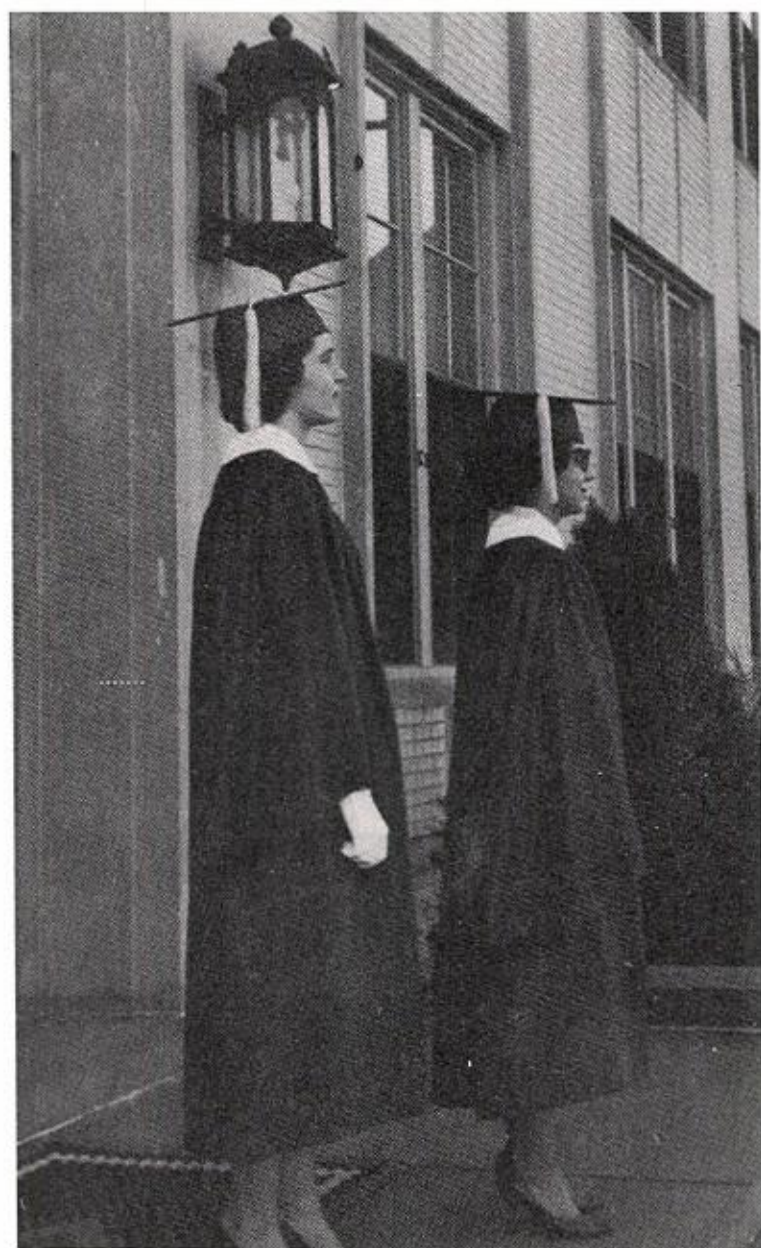

Quiet prevails as students are absorbed in study during their free periods.

OLM librarian Sister Mary Hortense urges all students to read comprehensively for success on National Merit and College Boards.

"To Whom Much Is Given. . ."

The keystone of the academic arch is the recognition of scholastic achievement. The true student is the city placed high for all to see, the candle set in the stand that all might see, and the wise investor of her master's talents. In fine, she is "the good and faithful servant." Scholarship denotes past, present, and potential leadership. Therefore, of those top-ranking seniors of the Class of '61 " . . . much is required."

With a successful high school career as their achievement, Mercy's "Profiles in Scholarship," Mary Ann Rosswurm, valedictorian, and Sandra Yamarina, salutatorian, look toward a challenging future.

High-ranking seniors, Marilyn Tisdale, Kathleen Moran, Helen Nowicki, Carol Sue Pienta, and Patricia Lollini, pause on the stairs they climbed each day to reach the "top."

A step in the right direction has been taken by Frances Comito, Judith Shell, and Patricia Yount, who take their places among the honor students.

STUDENTS GRASP RESPONSIBILITY

An indication that OLM is coming of age is the growth of organizations which supplement a wide range of interests and talents. Though these various units possess their distinctive characteristics, they all share the unity of being "student-centered." The new Counseling Service is designed to give each student a self-knowledge of her scholastic and vocational aptitudes. A closer relationship among faculty, parents, and students is the express goal of the Rosarium Club. Development of the spiritual life, growth in self-government, and enjoyment of sports are the ideals of the Sodality, Student Council, and Athletic Association, respectively. The silver-tongued find their refuge in debate, the thespians in drama, those with a journalistic bent on publications staffs, and the musically inclined in chorale. For those who look toward tomorrow, there are the "future" clubs to give an insight into most feminine vocations.

Mercy's fond hope is that these organizations are not only a sign of her growth, but also a source of development for all her students.

Sodality officers, Chris Kennedy, vice-prefect, and Mary Ann Przybysz, prefect, record the arrival of a new shipment of cards as Virginia Gerhard, secretary, and Mary McGreevy, treasurer, sort the boxes for distribution.

Miss Kudron interviews Pat Lang as part of the school guidance program which includes counseling all students.

OLM Introduces Counseling Program

A student counseling program was introduced at Mercy this year. Under the auspices of qualified faculty, tests were administered to measure scholastic achievement and ability and vocational aptitude. Convocations and special guidance meetings were incorporated into the program.

College Night, sponsored by the Rosarium Club, also guided Juniors and Seniors in their preparation for the future by giving sound advice on higher education.

Mrs. Ryan, of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, conducts Eileen Lamb into the Rosarium counseling room for the results of Eileen's aptitude tests.

Representatives of Mercy College, Mr. James McCarthy, Charlene McKenna, and Gretchen Gleib, confer on the advantages of a career in teaching during our Annual College Night.

Joan Wallace, an OLM graduate, utilizes the public address system for the various aptitude tests given to all classes by the University of Dayton Guidance Center.

Jana Piersante and Pat Malone seek the answers to questions concerning a career in nursing from a student nurse at Mercy College.

Parents Please Faculty and Students

Faculty, parents, and students have benefited from the closer relations between home and school developed since the institution of the Rosarium Club. Working unceasingly, the club has provided entertainment for parents and students and raised necessary funds for improving school facilities.

Mr. Malone, Rosarium Club president, urges students to solicit their parents' membership for the club.

Mrs. Marie Locher presents the winning ticket which entitles her to the portable television raffled at the pre-Lenten card party.

The one hundred and twenty-six prizes available at the Card Party are displayed by chairmen: Mrs. Joseph Busse, tickets; Mrs. Chester Cyrol, table arrangement; Mrs. James Kendall, reception; Mrs. Joseph DeLorenzo, general chairman; Mrs. Patrick Harkness, reception; Mrs. A. R. Barraco, door prizes; and Mrs. J. G. Greene, refreshments.

Presenting the plans for the Rosarium Club's annualcard party is this year's general chairman, Mrs. Joseph DeLorenzo.

On behalf of the Rosarium Club, Mr. Malone presents its "annual" check to Sister Mary Frederic "to use as she sees fit."

Student Council Sparks Spirit

Student Council officers and representatives energetically strove to promote the interests of OLM. Conscientious officers presented a "Big Sister" program for freshmen, sponsored a suggestion box and questionnaire, presided over numerous convocations, and presented for upperclassmen and post-graduates an annual Christmas holiday event, the Alumnae Ball.

Diane Johnson's work in the Civil Air Patrol is acknowledged with the presentation of the Student Council's "Citizen of the Month Award" by Mary Brennan. Lynn Gayney announces the event to the student body.

Preparing to distribute Student Council questionnaires to junior home-rooms are: Rosemary Wilhelm, Virginia Stewart, Diane Macunovich, Mariellen Ross, and Sue Aldred.

Mary Kay Verreau, Mary Kay Hall, Mary Quirk, Kathy Crowley, and Cathy O'Brien leave the Rosarium after a weekly Student Council meeting.

Freshman Student Council reps, Janet Gallagher, Susie Smart, Sue Prikryl, Ellen Moloney, and Judy Celesky, admire the fifty-star flag donated by their class.

Student Council reps, Virginia Stewart, Mariellen Ross, Diane Macunovich, Marilou Schmidt, Karen Squiers, Mary Kay Verreau, and Mary Kay Hall, serve refreshments at an after-school social hour.

Giving a parting smile to Fi-Fi before the last ticket is sold at the Sodalities Fair are Cecile Blaquiere, Virgiline Thibault, and Rita Ann Teichman.

The Sodality:

Through Sodality Consecration, Mercians direct their lives "to Jesus through Mary." To encourage this same spirit in others, they are active in lay-apostle work. Sister Mary Maura guided the Sodality in activities this year, including the Christmas Card Drive, the Sodalities Fair, and various projects to aid the missions.

Pat Goss and Virginia Gerhard were among those who represented OLM at the 14th Annual Archdiocesan Sodality Day and shared the theme, "Leadership for Life," with other Sodalists.

Top salesmen of the Sodality Christmas Card drive enjoy the rewards of their enthusiastic efforts.

A Way of Life

Junior and Senior Sodalists cut sales slips as the Christmas card drive gets underway.

A.A. Sportsmanship Mirrored by Performing their customary task of setting up additional chairs before a convocation are A.A. reps: Mary Ann O'Connell, Carol Bruce, Carole Dyer, Judy Morrison, Mary Miner, Mary Kay Sweeney, Bernadette O'Neill, Sandra Seehaver, Cecile Blaquiére, Bernadine Kwiatkowski, Suzanne Lemieux, and Nancy Schiele.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Sumrill, the Athletic Association strives to impart the qualities of good sportsmanship to all students. To reach this goal, intramural games and an annual Play Day are sponsored.

The swimming team puts into practice the ideals of the A.A. This year's swimmers practiced with renewed enthusiasm as they sought to defend their championship in the Girls Parochial League.

Mrs. Sumrill's chief A.A. membership card salesmen, Marietta Charest, president; Pat Sullivan, vice-president; Lynn Legenhause, secretary; and Sue Meagher, treasurer, turn in an enthusiastic report.

Swimming Team

Having turned down a possible berth on the Olympic team to complete her high school education, Pat Sullivan excels as a breast-stroker on Mercy's team.

Publications Staffs Log

"Snoopy" stands guard over completed copy as Sister Mary Christopher and News Print editors, Cathy Banat, feature editor; Margaret Michalski, business manager; Pat Sullivan, layout editor; Nancy Sullivan, staff photographer; Anne Kelly, Diane Perrone, co-editors, meet another inevitable deadline.

Deadline . . . the word grows louder and more frequent . . . the endless question, "How's the News Print coming? . . . the stock answer, "Fine."

Sister Mary Christopher's staff, realizing from the start the importance of united effort in their year-round activity, set themselves to the task of publishing nine editions that headline the academic, social, and extracurricular activities of student subscribers.

A spirit of cooperation sets the tone for the News Print staff: Helen Nowicki, Nancy Dalecki, Sandra Capilla, typists; Nancy Patton, Kathy Molloy, Pat Cahill, Christine DeRosier, staff writers; Peggy Klenner and Mary Dugan, staff artists.

The third Wednesday of each month finds Fran Yermak and Chris Taylor distributing News Print to the homerooms.

As the first manifestation of their Lenten "penances," Mary Etta Fisher, Nancy Nobel, and Joyce Ford prepare News Print for local, state and national circulation.

Year's Activities

In a rare moment for conference with all her assistants, Virginia Benner, photography editor, examines recent pictures with Barbara Lustica, Doreen Selegan, and Mary Ann O'Connell.

To the students, the yearbook is a chronicle of the year's activities. To its staff and moderator, Sister Mary Karl, it is a daily round of pages to paste-up, headlines to write, and copy to type. Lore editors are beset by pictures that don't materialize, ideas that won't come, and time that goes too fast. Perseverance against these difficulties results in an annual that suitably represents the faculty and student body of OLM.

An important process in the planning of an annual is the study of a variety of yearbook styles. Surveying exchanges are: Ann Groh, senior chairman; Noreen Konner, underclass chairman; Virginia Gerhard; Mary Ellen Kulesa, activities chairman; Cynthia Churski, organizations chairman; Mary Lynne Beras, business manager; Kathleen Moran; Kathie Ofenstein, copy editor; and Jacki Phillips, advertising chairman.

Musicians May Merit Scholarships

Musically inclined students at OLM develop their talents through chorale and private music, under the supervision of Sisters Mary Protase and Huberta. As an incentive to further study, scholarships, based on instrumental or vocal abilities, were awarded for the first time this year. Sister Mary Protase served as general chairman of the Archdiocesan talent committee sponsoring the grants.

Marilyn Witham auditions for a scholarship in music sponsored for Catholic high school students by the Archdiocese.

Adept at playing the piano, organ, violin and clarinet, Sister Mary Huberta is engaged in instructing aspiring musicians.

A last minute practice gives Christina Brown a chance to polish up her performance while Paula Francis, Germaine Garrett, Christy Weglarz, and Judy Sallott await their turn at the piano.

The Senior Chorale, conducted by Sister Mary Protase, practices for its part in the Christmas cantata.

Congratulations are in order as varsity debaters, Carolyn Tushis, Katie Moran, Mary Jo Kohn, and Virginia Stewart, return to school and report another victory to Sister Mary Madonna.

Debaters Bring Home Awards

Coached by Sister Mary Madonna, OLM debaters participated in the State League and Thomas More Forum. They attained an extensive knowledge of world affairs as they argued in confirmation or rejection of this year's debate topic, Resolved: That the United Nations Should Be Significantly Strengthened.

Underclass debaters, Mary Ann Stella, Kathy Smart, Kathy McElman, and Paula Francis, get together during a research-and-discussion session in preparation for an approaching debate.

As Dan Stella debunks affirmative arguments, Carolyn Tushis and Bernadette Zimcosky listen attentively to marshall rebuttal points.

Language--Key to Friendship

Panel discussions, symposiums, and formal speeches are an integral part of the Speech Arts Club. Affiliated with the National Catholic Theater Conference, members are given special rates to local productions and the opportunity to attend the New York summer convention.

Supplementing the advanced language classes, the French and Latin clubs serve as a means of exploring the social and cultural aspects of other nations.

Mrs. Francis, Speech Arts Club moderator, presents Genesian certificates to meriting officers: Mary Rita Danaher, secretary; Noreen Konner, treasurer; Mary Etta Fisher, president; and Virginia Gerhard, vice-president.

Latin club officers turned mythological gods and goddesses. Sandra Lee, secretary; Marilyn Baron, vice-president; Marilyn Tisdale, program chairman; and Noreen Konner, president, pause for a terrestrial pose with Mrs. McGraw, Latin Club moderator.

Mesdemoiselles de Paris, Rosanne Baron, secretary; Victoria DeGuisti, vice president; Kathy McNamara, president; and Barbara Anderson, treasurer, peruse a French menu.

"The Future Belongs

Sue Keefe, treasurer, and Ann Marie O'Neill, president, direct Leslie Dingeman and Dale Hansen, student nurses from St. Josph Mercy Hospital, to the Rosarium for a F.N.C. meeting.

Preparing girls for two major professions is the role of the Future Nurses and Future Teachers Clubs. This past year future nurses studied their career by attending open houses at various hospitals and by inviting authorities on nursing to address them. F.T.C. members observed elementary teaching methods and gained first-hand experience by conducting classes at St. Monica grade school.

Realizing that the success of any venture depends on preparation, F.T.C. officers, Judy Drawe, treasurer; Nancy Sullivan, president; Kathy Huhn, vice-president; and Kathy Ofenstein, secretary, draw up plans for their April convocation.

to a Youth Who Can Conquer It"

Science club officers, Mary Lynne Beras, president; Barbara Morrow, treasurer; Mary McCarthy, vice-president; and Judy Shell, secretary, take inventory of the chemical stockroom.

Home economics majors possess the key to unlimited career possibilities. Through membership in the Home Economics Career Club, students are given the opportunity to explore such areas as fashion designing, dietetics, and interior decorating.

Endeavoring to foster a better understanding, appreciation, and interest in science and mathematics, Science Club members participated actively in the Metropolitan Detroit Science Fair and other activities related to their field. Moderated by Mrs. Ross, the club shared in the benefits derived from association with the Science Clubs of America.

Home Economics Career Club officers, Mary Nell Farron, treasurer; Judi Nix, secretary; Judy Smith, president; Sue Meagher and Sue Allen, program co-chairmen, gather to plan a future project.

Vestments for Solemn Benediction are laid out by Chapel aides, Diana Jaeger, Kathy Huhn, and Frances Barber.

To Love Is to Serve

Participating actively in school services is a means of acquaintance with all students. Chapel, library, and bookstore aides manifest a practical expression of love for God and for others as they faithfully discharge their duties.

Bookstore aides, Valerie Purcott, Barbara Morrow, Virginia Gellenbeck, and Yvonne Granata, count holy cards and medals while taking inventory of their stock.

Career files, an asset to any library, are sorted by Judy Burkhardt and Barbara Lustica. Barbara Jean Wright types a list of the latest publications available on the library's shelves.

Diligent Crews Keep OLM "Shipshape"

Neatness, capability, and kindness are in-born qualities of all members of the maintenance staff. Quietly, but efficiently, they go about their tasks of cleaning and repairing. Students are greatly indebted to this staff for their immaculate school.

The Business Office begins the morning's round of activities as Thelma Robinson and Redelia Hayes check in with Mrs. Gertrude Fox.

Students are indebted to Joseph Bomarito, John Granata, and Jesse Wade, for the upkeep of the school.

"Spic and span" describes the kitchen after a hard day's work by Sister Mary Isadore's culinary staff, Antoinette Patrillo, Jennie Halterman, Ruth Hebert, Jeanne Granata, and Sally Lange.

Countless hours are spent by Sister Mary Isadore and her assistants in planning, preparing and serving meals to the faculty and students. Always on hand for special banquets and parties, the culinary staff cheerfully accepts the added responsibility.

HALF OF MAN IS KNOWLEDGE; HALF IS ACTION

Development of the "whole person" is the fundamental concept of Christian education. The activities offered at OLM play an essential role in the realization of this goal. Between Orientation and Graduation, a student has had the spiritual benefit of an annual retreat; seniors enjoy the privilege of this elevating experience away from school and home. On the less serious side of life, Mercians are entertained by such programs as the Freshman Talent Show, Dramacade, and Play Day. And for those whose feet never stop, there are the dances — Dads' and Daughters', Alumnae Ball, and the Junior-Senior Prom. All these activities provide a pleasant and needed diversion from the academic routine of books and study.

As an admiring cast looks on, Miss Wagner receives red roses as a thank you for directing the Freshman Talent Show.

Dancing to the tune of "Us Little Men," Rosemary Gustina and Diane Beauchamp perform in one of the sixteen acts of the show.

Senior big sisters, Elaine DiMatteo and Joanne Montagne, pour tea for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Malachowski and their daughter, Joan.

The "Sound of Music" fills the auditorium as Carol Bruce and her companions vocalize the popular "Do Re Mi."

Talented Frosh Feature UN Tribute

The Freshmen provided a magic carpet when they took OLMers to the United Nations fifteenth anniversary celebration in New York. Frosh talent "wowed" their school audience and equally entertained parents with the performance directed by Miss Eileen Wagner.

Preceding the show, seniors fulfilled their role of "big sisters" by serving refreshments for first year students and their guests at the Freshman Tea.

Judy Sallot, Freshman Class President, presents OLM's first fifty star flag to Sister Mary Frederic on behalf of the Class of '64.

Chaplain Imparts Blessing on Rings

Sharon Dobbs, Pat Yount, and Diane Zarza were among the seniors who pledged once again to uphold the motto inscribed on their ring, "Virtus et Scientia."

Seniors had waited expectantly for the first wearing of caps and gowns, and the opportunity came in the guise of the Ring Blessing Ceremony.

Following the individual blessing of rings, a panel of University of Michigan co-eds enumerated the problems which Catholic students face on the secular campus. Father John Bradley, chaplain of the Newman Club at U. of M., moderated the group and referred questions posed by the audience to panel members.

Fr. Bradley and the U. of M. panelists look on as Fr. Burroughs catches audience reaction to his favorite anecdotes.

Janet Smith decides which clothes and what books will be most needed on her three day retreat.

Kathy Morrison typifies the real meaning of retreat, that of being alone with God.

That He May Speak

Fall retreatants devoted their time to prayer, meditation, and spiritual reading. The guidance of Fathers Kaspar, Howard, and Michael, C.P., linked with the Christ-like example of the Sisters of Mary Reparatrix, enabled seniors to return to school spiritually refreshed.

Janet Hanifan takes advantage of private consultation with Fr. Howard, C.P. during a free moment of her closed retreat.

A bit of humor is enjoyed after the retreat as Father Jacobson shares a joke with Pat Madigan, Nancy Schiele, Pat Kulesa, Rosemary Wilhelm, Mary Grace Barlage, and Virginia Banas.

"Come Apart and Rest Awhile"

Mercians accepted Christ's invitation when they took part in the open retreat preached by Father James Jacobson, M.S. An aura of silence pervaded the halls as retreatants attended conferences, daily Mass, and meditated on Father's words.

Mary Miner, Mary Kay Sweeney, and Diane Ropert browse through the pamphlets available for all retreatants.

At the close of their three day retreat, Fr. Jacobson imparts the Papal Blessing to underclassmen.

Seniors Stage "Song of Bernadette"

As a suitable presentation for the penitential season of Lent, Senior-players dramatized "The Song of Bernadette." Across the footlights came the inspiring message of Franz Werfel's novel, bringing to life the wonders of the Lourdes apparition.

"The Lady is there!" Bernadette Soubirous (Joanne Montagne) kneels in reverence and awe at the Lourdes' Apparition.

Seeing no one, Marie (Bernadette Villeneuve) and Jeanne (Carol Wendt) look on in bewilderment as Bernadette prays with Our Lady during the first apparition.

While his wife (Mary Etta Fisher) sits by quietly, Francois Soubirous (Sandra Perior) accuses his daughter Bernadette of lying after Marie relates the events that transpired at the grotto.

Mercians Experience Joys of Christmas

At Mercy, preparation for Christmas commences with the lighting of Advent wreaths. As the holidays draw closer, doors and bulletin boards are decorated with seasonal scenes. Climaxing the festivities are the traditional food-giving convocation and homeroom parties with wishes for a holy and happy holiday season.

Eager tots enjoy the antics of the Easter bunny as he pays an out-of-season visit to the biology room.

As the Senior Chorale intones "O Come, All Ye Faithful," the dramatics class presents a tableau depicting the adoration of the Christ Child by shepherds and Magi.

The true meaning of Christmas reigns in the Chapel, adorned with the setting of our Savior's birth. Greens and pointsettias surrounding the manger add an artistic touch to the humble scene.

AA reps, Sue Meagher, Mary Kay Sweeney, and Judy Morrison, stack and sort Mercians' gifts to the poor at the annual Christmas food-giving program.

Hanna (Mary Etta Fisher) is horror-stricken by the sudden appearance of Lydia (Pat O'Brien). Alice (Eileen Lamb) struggles to escape in this climactic scene from "Early Frost."

Thespians Play Return Engagement

For the second year, Mercians presented "Dramacade," a series of one-act plays designed to entertain while giving potential actresses a challenge and a chance to learn.

Performing for enthusiastic audiences, the drama students proved their skill in acting, directing and staging plays.

While Nan Hannon checks her cues, Sally Leibhan artistically applies Donna Deedler's make-up before curtain time.

As an interlude, Jerre Harding does a parody of a peasant dancer.

Abby (Nancy Sullivan), attempting to murder Rosalie (Bernadette Villeneuve) with sleeping pills, is thwarted when Mrs. Grant (Margaret Ann Cole) enters in the final scene of "Undertow."

Prince Simon (Sandra Perior) disclose his secret to Princess Camilla (Carol Wendt) in "Ugly Duckling."

After a successful performance, the cast of the Junior production, "Alice in Wonderland," gathers back-stage for an informal picture.

Dads Step Out to '20's Beat

Mr. Thompson, father of the night, receives a loving kiss from his proud daughter, Yvonne.

"It's the cat's pajamas" was the refrain heard on November 11 as the Junior Class presented the Dads and Daughters' Dance, "23 Skiddoo." Skits in the Rosarium provided a ready retreat for foot-weary dads. Memory-minded Mercians were able to record the events of the evening with photographs in the cafeteria.

"Oh, Johnny oh . . .," the refrain sung by Dorothy Mezget, a Junior flapper, draws chuckles from dads, and giggles from their dates.

Keeping with the Sadie Hawkins theme, Sue Szalma and Jane Barbour turn in their dance tickets to Virginia Knight, Lynn Legenhause, and Pat O'Brien.

A.A. Defies Superstitions

Athletic Association officers wished each other "Rots of Ruck" as they consulted calendars to select a date for their annual sock hop. Superstition reigned as queen, while black cats, broken mirrors, and other symbols of luck — both good and bad — comprised decorations for the dance on Friday-the-thirteenth.

Toni Charest, A.A. president, and Dr. and Mrs. Sumrill oversee the successful sock hop.

An interested throng watches as Toni Charest gives five dollars to the king of the sock hop.

Sharon, Her Knight, and the Music

A corsage of white carnations with pink accents complement Sharon's blue brocade dress.

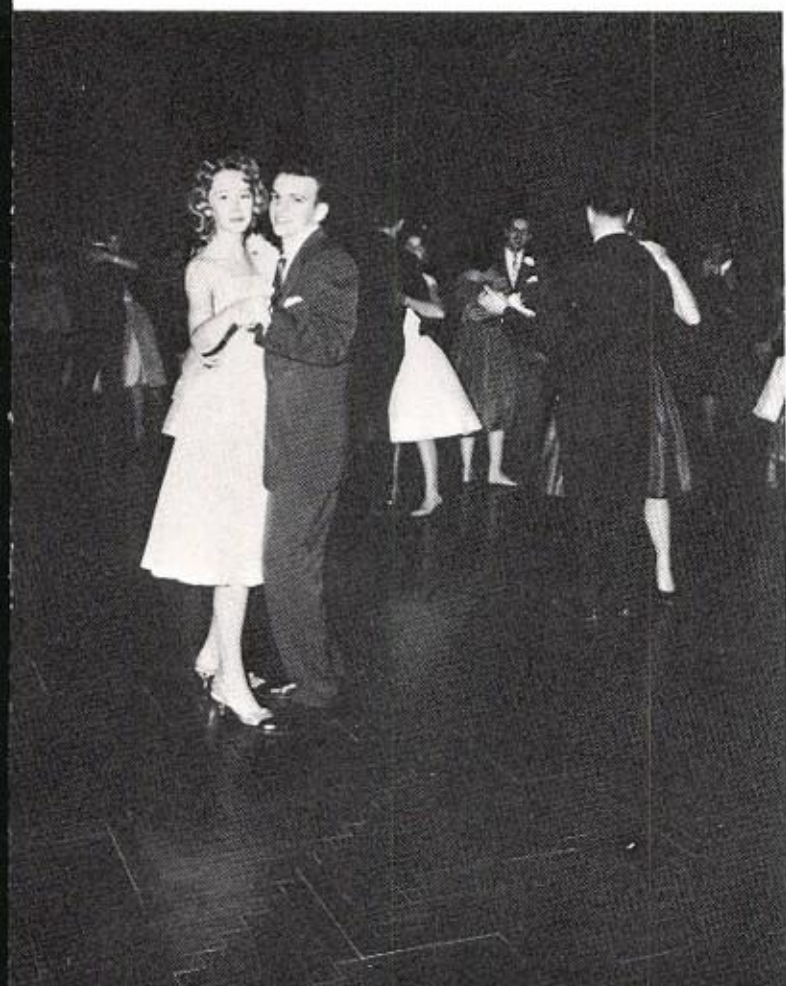

Shades of blue enhance the souvenir dance programs distributed by Sue Sullivan, Student Council Secretary, and her "knight," Jim Kordek.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Laughlin greet their daughter's escort, Carlo Dall'Olmo.

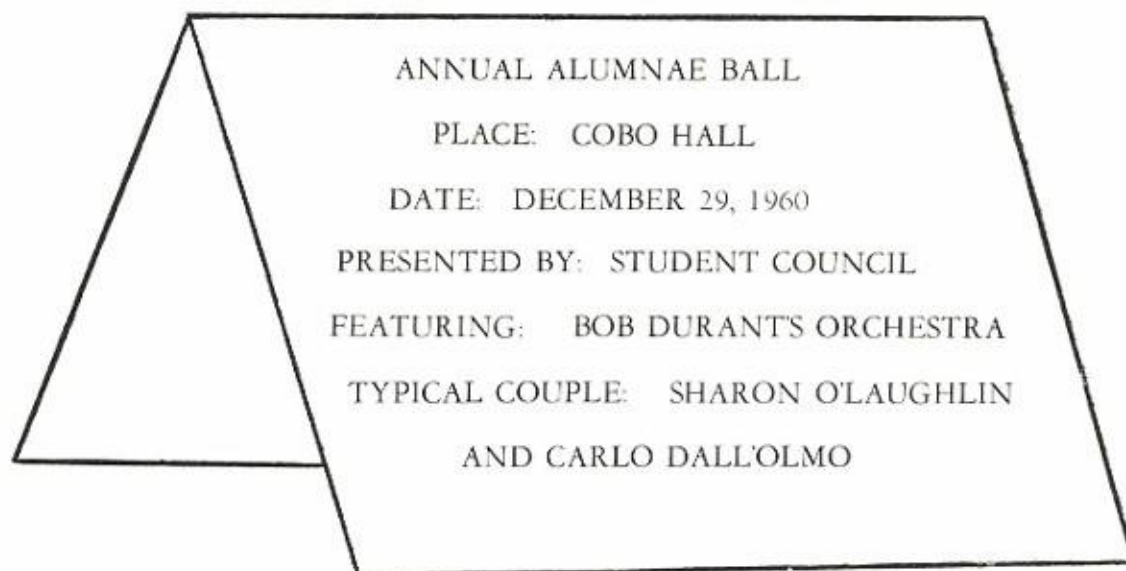

A memorable evening is anticipated by Sharon as she purchases her ticket from Mrs. Fox.

Petticoats rustled as couples danced to the strains of "Autumn Leaves," played by Bob Durant's Orchestra.

Christmas vacation and the wonders of Cobo Hall are discussed while Katie Moran, Ken Thomas, Sharon, Carlo, Mike Mithen, Donna Miller, Bob Paris, and Jacki Phillips have refreshments.

YOUTH--FULL OF GRACE, FORCE, FASCINATION

OLM exists for all her students. However, the younger members of this scholastic family claim her special devotion. Can one detect an underclassman? It isn't difficult, if one will only look. The twinkling eyes of her newest arrivals express eagerness to become a part of their school. Rulers, protractors, and flash-cards are the tell-tale signs of the searchers for wisdom, the sophomores. Look into any room marked junior, and you see activity and anticipation—the Dads' and Daughters' Dance, Junior Trip, Junior-Senior Prom, senior year. Each day of an underclassman is a busy one, but one that brings much joy for it is lived under the loving care of Our Lady of Mercy.

SENIORS DISCOVER

A BEGINNING IN AN END

The finished product of high school education is, of course, the graduating senior. She wears the academic gown, symbol of knowledge. She carries the diploma, symbol of success.

Senior activities at OLM have been geared to many goals: more perfect spiritual life, mastery of academic courses, and honors in extra-curricular activities. Some aspirations were fully realized; some achieved only in part; and some abandoned because they were but dreams. Whatever the case might have been, underlying all their efforts and enriching their success was the desire to attain the virtues of their class motto—goodness, discipline, and knowledge.

The students of OLM appreciate the interest and helping hand offered them by the Lore patrons and advertisers. They are grateful that advertisers chose this medium to transmit their message to the public. An advertisement is a success story, a symbol of free enterprise, a gauge of economic well-being. OLM students recognize that these advertisers make a vital contribution to the community of which they are proud.

going to live better than ever before ... electrically!

You, today's graduate, are entering an exciting new era where you will live better than any generation has ever lived before—the era of all-electric living.

Your all-electric home for example, thanks to time-saving electric equipment and appliances, will allow you and your family more time to enjoy life together.

Your job will be smoother too. Electricity, in everything from office equipment to heavy machinery, will lighten your work—make it more enjoyable.

If you decide on further education, your field of study may well be related to electricity. Perhaps someday, as a scientist or technician, you will even lend your knowledge to further mold the all-electric world of tomorrow.

But wherever the future finds you, whatever your place in life, electricity will be there to help you live better than ever before—live better electrically.

THE CORNER

A milestone's about to happen. Your graduation marks a decisive period in your life. Behind is an important, formative period of learning. And ahead?

The course is yours to choose, whether it be more study or the start of a career. We at Michigan Consolidated Gas Company join friends and family in wishing you well in your new adventures... hoping that your new-worlds-to-conquer outlook never dims.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY

"There's a girl I'd like to know"

"She has so much poise and confidence—I'll bet she works for the telephone company. Those girls are so attractive and have such friendly, pleasant manners."

They're talking about Lucy, who started working for Michigan Bell right out of high school. She was trained by friendly, understanding supervisors and today she's proud of her work; enjoys a fine salary, regular wage increases, and many new friends.

Lucy was delighted from the very first by the clean, pleasant surroundings, by the regularly scheduled mid-morning and midafternoon "breaks" for relaxing in comfortable lounge rooms, and by the opportunities for advancement.

Isn't that kind of job worth going after? Then why not get in touch with us—perhaps there's a telephone job for you. We'll be happy to talk with you about the interesting work at Michigan Bell.

Roses to You:

Our Blessed Mother to Whom this book is dedicated;
Sister Mary Frederic for permission to publish this year's annual;

Members of the faculty for willing cooperation in sacrificing class time for yearbook pictures;

Sister Mary Karl, our moderator, for competent guidance, indispensable assistance, and necessary prayers;

Edwards Brothers, our reliable publishers, for prompt service and fine craftsmanship, and particularly Mr. James Martin, our representative, for his patience and encouragement;

Durand Cover Company for binding our book, especially Mr. Harold Payne for designing our cover;

Mary Dugan for proficient art work;

and

Our assistants in photography: K-Mac Studio, senior portraits, special events, and expert photographic aid; All-State Photo Company, underclass pictures; Sister Mary Christopher and News Print staff; and Mr. Earl Bradley.

May God bless you for your generosity!

1961 Lore Staff

Carol, one of my coolest friends. I'm really glad I got to know you this year. Never forget the fun we had. Keep cool and never lose your great sense of humor.

Pat
 ATP

Carol, I've been nice knowing you this past year. I'll glad to see you always. I'll never forget the fun we had in your class either.
 I'll see you all year long!

Carol,
 To one of the neatest and nicest girls in my homeroom. Remember all the times, both good and bad, in our sophomore year. Best of luck in all your attempts -

 ATP

Carol,
 To Dr. Laurentina's favorite girl, stay in your homeroom next year (if possible)!
 Kathy

Carol, you have terrific looks and a Personality to match.
Remember all our times in ATP - lots & lots and good lets more.

~~Good~~ Luck
